

MIGRATION OF IDEAS, 25-27 September 2004
The Second of a Two-Part Workshop

Saturday, 25 September 2004

Opening Session

Scuola Superiore di Studi Umanistici

17:00-17:15 Introductory Remarks:

Roberto Scazzieri (Institute of Advanced Study, University of Bologna),
Raffaella Simili (CIRESS, University of Bologna)

17:15 - 18:15 Special Lecture:

The History of Science: the Challenge of the New Media

Paolo Galluzzi (Institute and Museum of the History of Science, Florence; University of Florence)

Sunday 26 September, 10-13 (Cosmopolitanism and the Republic of Letters)

Scuola Superiore di Studi Umanistici

10:00-11:00

Dressing the Sultan's Wife: Continuity and Change in the Images of Roxolane

Birke-Siri Scherf (University of Cambridge)

Huguenots in Europe - A Cosmopolitan Society?

Susanne Lachenicht (University of Galway)

11:00-11:30: Coffee

11:30-12:00

Europe in the 18th Century: From the Republic of Letters to Cosmopolitanism

Walter Tega (CIRESS, University of Bologna)

12:00-12:30

Discussion

13:30-14:45

Guided Visit to the History of Science Collections of the University of Bologna (Palazzo Poggi Museum)

Sunday 26 September, 15-17:30 (Changing Minds)

Scuola Superiore di Studi Umanistici

A War of Words: The Language and the Politics of Science in France, 1795 -1802

Pietro Corsi (University of Paris I - Panthéon Sorbonne)

The Origins of Social Democracy: Britain, France and America in the 1790s

Gareth Stedman Jones (University of Cambridge)

The Diffusion of Economic Ideas and the Formation of the Market Tradition: Explorations in the Political Economy of the 19th Century

Roberto Scazzieri (Institute of Advanced Study, University of Bologna)

The Neo-Liberal Turn of Political Economy. A Short History of a Long Transformation

Adrian Pabst (University of Cambridge)

17:30 - 17:45 Tea

Sunday 26 September, 17:45- 19:30 (The Contexts of Exile)

Scuola Superiore di Studi Umanistici

Meeting in Exile

John Morrill (CRASSH, University of Cambridge)

The Oxford Cosmopolitan Club and the Migration of Nationalism: Oxford, Berlin, Harvard

William O' Reilly (University of Galway and University of Cambridge)

Philosophy of Science between Europe and America: Transfer, Transformation and Interaction before and after World War II

Friedrich Stadler (Institut Wiener Kreis, University of Vienna)

Monday 27 September, 9:30-12:30 (Wars and New Places- Part One)

Scuola Superiore di Studi Umanistici

9:30-10:45 Scientists at the First World War

Raffaella Simili (CIRESS, University of Bologna) and Giovanni Paoloni (University of Viterbo)

Translatio Studii: Warburgian Kulturwissenschaft in London, 1933 -1945

Nicholas Mann (School of Advanced Study, University of London)

10:45- 11:15 Coffee

11:15-12:00 Forced Migration and Scientific Change in the Nazi era: A New Approach

Mitchell Ash (University of Vienna)

Transfer to Villa Gandolfi Pallavicini (Institute of Advanced Study)

Monday 27 September, 15:00-17:00 (Wars and New Places- Part Two)

Villa Gandolfi Pallavicini

15:00 - 17:00 A Tribute to Janina Hosiasson Lindenbaum, a Philosopher Victim of the Holocaust
Maria Carla Galavotti (CIRESS, University of Bologna)

German-speaking Economists in British Exile 1933-1945
Harald Hagemann (University Hohenheim, Stuttgart)

Circulation of Ideas and Migration of Scientists: Nuclear Physics in the 1930s and 1940s
Giovanni Battimelli (University of Rome La Sapienza)

17:00-17:30 Tea

17:30- 19:00 Final Discussion and Summing Up

John Morrill (CRASSH, University of Cambridge)
Roberto Scazzieri (Institute of Advanced Study, University of Bologna)
Raffaella Simili (CIRESS, University of Bologna)