

MICROCREDIT IDENTITY

A two days conference to be held in
Bologna University on the 16th and 17th of May 2013

Microcredit and its identity is a hot point in the discussion on microcredit practice and philosophy.

Lots of considerations have been developed as well as different applications of the idea.

We can consider this innovation as a turning point in the field of banking, better said "ethical banking". It is not surprising so, that such a border line idea meets difficulties in the process of framing its identity.

Microcredit practice was first started in Bangladesh, in the so called developing part of the world.

What it means to import such an idea in the other part of the world where Welfare application and theory are so embedded, is something very important to discuss as this intertwining is very special; mostly in Europe.
